Monowave 300 – A New Dimension of Microwave Synthesis

Anton Paar presents the new Monowave 300 - a smart, powerful monomode microwave synthesis reactor. Featuring revolutionary new techniques, Monowave 300 provides unrivaled reliability and the most extended operation limits for method development and optimization. With the highest field density available, even low absorbing solvents can be heated effectively in 20 mL scale as well. And Monowave 300 heats solvents quicker than any other instrument on the market, which saves a lot of precious time. The intuitive touch screen user interface allows for quick and easy methods programming, on-the-fly parameter changes and the in-situ generation of experimental reports. This entire package makes Monowave 300 the powerhouse solution for microwave synthesis in academic and industrial research labs. Any chemistry, any scale, anyone, anywhere. Available in Australia and New Zealand at MEP Instruments.
